Anglican Grammar School

ParentEd 2024

Principal's Message

At Lindisfarne Anglican Grammar School, we deeply value the partnership between home and school, understanding that it is fundamental to the wellbeing and success of every child. This belief, that every child matters, every day, is the cornerstone of our nurturing environment, guiding our commitment to holistic development and collaborative support.

Our school culture prioritises creating a safe, connected, and cohesive learning environment. This is achieved not just within the school walls but also through strong, ongoing collaborations with families. We believe that when parents and educators work together, the impact on a student's growth and learning is significantly amplified.

In 2023, we launched the ParentEd Program, designed to foster effective communication and collaboration between home and school. As this program moves into its second year, we are excited to enhance it further with insights from our 2024 collaboration with renowned psychologist Dr. Michael Carr-Gregg. This partnership will bring new perspectives and strategies to strengthen the home-school connection, ensuring we cater to the individual and collective needs of our students in the most effective way.

I commend this publication to you, encouraging all members of the Lindisfarne community to actively participate in and support these initiatives. They ensure that every student at Lindisfarne Anglican Grammar School feels valued and supported on their educational journey, reinforcing our unwavering belief that the partnership between home and school is key to ensuring that every child matters, every day.

Principal

POSITIVE EDUCATION AT LINDISFARNE

At Lindisfarne Anglican Grammar School, our approach to wellbeing is what truly distinguishes us. We embrace a holistic framework that prioritises the all-encompassing growth of our students, spanning cognitive, emotional, social, physical, and spiritual dimensions. This approach, deeply rooted in the Round Square IDEALS, ensures that we provide a safe, nurturing, and supportive environment.

Our philosophy extends far beyond conventional academic outcomes. We integrate key elements like international understanding, democratic participation, environmental stewardship, adventurous learning, leadership, and service into our educational fabric. This unique blend fosters confident, ethical, and responsible learners, preparing them not just for academic success but for life as active, conscientious global citizens.

The comprehensive nature of our Wellbeing Framework at Lindisfarne Anglican Grammar School is central to our ethos. It's a holistic strategy, designed to prepare students for the multifaceted challenges and opportunities they will encounter beyond the classroom. This framework equips them with essential tools for active and ethical engagement in a diverse and dynamic world.

In line with this approach, we encourage engagement with initiatives such as the ParentEd program, underscoring our belief in collaborative, community-based education. This program exemplifies our commitment to working together to provide our young people with the essential skills and knowledge for their overall success, happiness, and well-rounded development.
